

ABSTRACT

Disclosed is a fermentation method for the production of commercially useful amounts of chitin and/or chitosan by a biosynthetic process. Also disclosed are genetically modified microorganisms useful in such a method and a microbial biomass containing chitin and/or chitosan produced by such a method.